

Research services on Gender-based violence in Moroccan universities

The British Council is conducting a piece of research that aims to define ways in which Moroccan universities can prevent gender-based violence. This research will design an action plan to prevent gender-based violence or negative behaviours and empower women in Moroccan universities. Addressing sexual violence is crucial as it directly affects women's access to education, hindering academic progress and deterring participation in campus activities. By promoting a safer environment, the project seeks to enhance equal access to education, particularly for vulnerable and marginalised population.
